Eco Updates

Here in the Heartland

Thank you all for your patience! Since Beth retired, I've been learning to juggle—not literally, of course. The fall editions of Trash Talk! and "One Person's Trash..." took a little more time than normal as I learned how to manage travel and other new responsibilities and still find time for my "regular" work. I am happy to report that I have several new systems in place which should help with time management and I also have some part-time help. Thank you again for your patience through the transition!

In Other Neck's of the Woods

Diamond Bar (CA) recently started publishing "One Person's Trash..." Their residents read the newsletter in English, Chinese, and Korean. We also provide Spanish language articles for many communities.

The Southeastern Indiana Solid Waste District (IN) kicked off a new school challenge this fall. The Get Green! Challenge invites schools in the seven-county district to take their recycling up a notch.

Upcoming Deadlines

Trash Talk! goes to the printer next week. Your copies will be delivered by November 11th.

I'll begin sending out first drafts for "One Man's Trash..." next week. If you haven't gotten your information in, please send it as soon as possible!
